THE ST. Frederick Lady Warriors played host to the Delhi Lady Bears in a District 2-1A softball showdown on Thursday, April 10, at St. Frederick High School. Delhi won the game 22-7 to split the season series with St. Frederick. St. Frederick won game one of the Delhi series 38-26 on March 24 at Delhi High School.

BOW workshop concludes at Camp Grant Walker

What an exciting weekend at the BOW Workshop 2014, in Pollock. The Louisiana Department of Wildlife and Fisheries sponsored the "Becoming an Outdoor Woman" Program held at Camp Grant Walker. Some 125 participants were chosen each year from applications submitted in February for the April Workshops. There were also follow-up workshops for smaller advance groups call "Beyond Becoming an Outdoor Woman."

STORIES FROM THE OUTDOORS

There are women from all over Louisiana attending with the annual event etched in their psyche for survival skills to be honed, the skills taught by experts in their fields by both L D W F Agents and Volunteers. The camaraderie with like-minded individuals is so inspiring. You meet woman and bond as if your souls have always known each other. Your experiences are received and their stories are too in the interchangeable dialog over breakfast, lunch and dinners, bonfires and bedtime chatter.

Bunk bed cabins are situated in the piney woods near Kisatchie National Forest and the grounds are so beautiful to walk with ponds, streams, wildlife trails and vegetation. Thanks to many sponsors working with the LDWF, this workshop receives donations to give as door prizes and raffle drawings' to help fundraise for the next year. One particular is Jackie Love with Browning, who had five Browning 1911, 22 pistols, and custom made for these BOW events. I was elated when my ticket was drawn and I was the new owner of the limited edition from Browning. A shotgun was donated by Tommie Clanton and her husband Daniel, owner of the DC Pawn and Gun in Minden, La. Becky Lou Lacock was also very in-
